Paella is a Valencian word that means frying pan. The dish gets its name from it. Valencian speakers use the word paella for all pans, including the traditional shallow pan used for cooking the homonym dish. The pan is made out of polished or coated steel with two side handles.

Paella - Wikipedia

Paella was the food of farm workers who cooked dishes of rice over wood fires, embellished with whatever ingredients they could find. The dish is named for the wide, shallow pan in which the paella is cooked. The word "paella" is from a Valencian dialect meaning "pan," probably derived from the Latin word "patella" for pan.
